WMedStart is an early decision program designed for Western Michigan University and Kalamazoo College students during their junior year of undergraduate education for admission to WMed for the academic year following completion of their baccalaureate education. The program is open to all students in their junior year, and eligible students in their senior year.

WMedStart is intended for highly qualified WMU and Kalamazoo College students. Applicants are selected on the basis of their experiences, attributes, and performance in academic studies. Experiences typically include a combination of volunteer service, community service, leadership roles or research.

Why WMedStart?

An early decision for admission to medical school means you can focus on learning and successfully completing your undergraduate studies. Successful applicants are notified of acceptance to WMed toward the end of their junior year, which allows for a stress-free senior year without the need to incur the expense—energy, time and money—of applying, traveling and interviewing at multiple medical schools.

Does applying for WMedStart affect my chances for admission to WMed if I am not accepted through WMedStart?

No. There is no adverse impact if you are not accepted through WMedStart and then apply to WMed through the regular application process.

Who is eligible to apply for the WMedStart?

Students from Western Michigan University and Kalamazoo College are eligible to apply to WMedStart in the junior year of their undergraduate studies. Students who are in their senior year who are planning extended studies for an additional year before entering medical school may apply if they have not previously applied to any medical schools. Students are advised to contact Jean Shelton, Director of Admissions, with questions concerning eligibility.

What is my obligation if I accept admission through WMedStart?

Students who accept an offer of admission to WMed through WMedStart must maintain their academic status and successfully complete the remainder of their undergraduate studies as described in their application. All WMed prerequisite course requirements must be completed by the time of matriculation. Students will be required to sit for the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) prior to matriculation. Students who accept an offer of admission to WMed must agree not to apply to other medical schools since they are officially admitted to medical school.
